Software Developer Remote Work Music Listening Habits

Hi! Thank you for taking part in our survey.

This survey is part of an ongoing research project aiming to better understand how music impacts the work of remote software developers during the COVID-19 pandemic. Your responses to this survey will be anonymous and will be used to gain insights into music's role in your productivity and creativity while working from home.

The researchers are currently Computer Science Ph.D. students at Clemson University and are conducting this project under the guidance of Dr. Paige Rodeghero (prodegh@clemson.edu). For questions or concerns related to this project, please reach out to Makayla Moster at mmoster@clemson.edu.
